Santa Rosa

LAGUNA DE SANTA ROSA TRAIL AND HANNA WINERY

The 1.8-mile trail at Laguna de Santa Rosa offers more of a stroll than a strenuous hike. There are two entrances to the trail, one at 6303 Highway 12 and another by 5420 Occidental Road. If you park at the Occidental Road entrance, you're just a hundred yards or so from Hanna's Russian River Valley Tasting Room, where winemaker Jeff Hinchliffe is known for his Sauvignon Blanc, but also works with rarer fruit like Alchimie from the Alexander Valley and old-vine Zinfandel grown high on Bismark Mountain. 5353 Occidental Road, Santa Rosa. 707-431-4310, hannawinery.com

Glen Ellen

JACK LONDON STATE HISTORIC PARK AND BENZIGER FAMILY WINERY

Historic trails lead the way to the Wolf House ruins and Beauty Ranch in Jack London State Park at 2400 London Ranch Road. The park is located less than a mile from the Benziger Family Winery, where the Tribute Estate tour ($75) teaches guests about biodynamic growing practices and includes a stop in the underground wine cave. 1883 London Ranch Road, Glen Ellen. 707-935-3000, benziger.com

Sonoma Coast

SODA SPRINGS RESERVE AND ANNAPOLIS WINERY

This remote 48-acre reserve (24550 Kelly Road, Annapolis) boasts a number of short, easy strolling trails through giant redwoods. It's located less than a 10-minute drive from family-owned Annapolis Winery, where you can sip wine and take in views at an elevation of about 1,000 feet. Tastings of three to five wines are just $5, and there's often live music on Saturdays. 26055 Soda Springs Road, Annapolis. 707-886-5460, annapoliswinery.com -Dana Rebmann

Healdsburg

WARNECKE RANCH AND SUTRO WINE CO.

SUTRO Wine Co.'s founder, winemaker and artist Alice Warnecke Sutro, takes guests on a 45-minute vineyard hike through the golden hills before settling down in a quiet, shady grove of historic oaks for a tasting of her lineup of excellent, estate-grown Cabernet and Sauvignon Blanc wines. Reservations required, $45 per person. 13301 Chalk Hill Road, Healdsburg. 707-509-9695, warneckeranch.com, sutrowine.com
